

Bridging Gaps, Building Futures with metaWorX

In a world reshaped by unforeseen challenges, PrtX stands at the forefront, not just to witness change but to lead it. The inception of metaWorX, our pioneering product, is more than just an innovative idea; it's a response to a critical gap that emerged in the contemporary business landscape.

The Genesis of metaWorX

The pandemic era radically transformed the workplace, catapulting us into an age of remote work. This shift, while necessary, revealed a disconnect: the drift between remote work and the strategic direction of company culture, employee experience and business performance. Business leaders, while adapting to remote work, often found themselves growing frustrated over a perceived loss of control. Simultaneously, many employees, while relishing newfound autonomy, also grappled with a lack of clear direction and motivation.

This dual predicament drove the idea of metaWorX. Our vision is clear: to create a virtual platform that not only addresses remote work challenges but turns them into opportunities that create more equity amongst all stakeholders.

We're charting a new way forward.

The Purpose of metaWorX

More than just a tool, metaWorX embodies a forward-thinking philosophy.

A Web-App at its core, powered by an innovative CMS, it is the embodiment of our commitment to actionable, flexible, and impactful business solutions. It's a bridge connecting the strategic thinking necessary for business success and the newfound autonomy of remote work with intent, which we call: distributed work.

Our aim is to empower businesses to create easy-to-use employee development, engagement, onboarding, retention, and training programs with metaWorX. These serve as catalysts for creating a work environment that balances freedom with direction, autonomy with purpose.

Forged from Collaboration and Innovation

We created metaWorX in close consultation with you, our clients and prospects, blending real-world experiences with our vision. Our quest for excellence in developing metaWorX was also informed by the newest scientific research on the future of work and technological advancements in the business world.

Incorporating market research and the latest science, we've built a product that is not only responsive to current needs of businesses today, but is also geared towards addressing the challenges in the workspaces of tomorrow.

Workplaces Become Workspaces

metaWorX goes beyond the conventional. It's an invitation to reimagine the workspace – to create digital and virtual environments that are fairer, more independent, and lead to thriving performance. For numerous sectors, metaWorX will fundamentally transform recruitment practices, broadening the spectrum of prospective talent. It promotes impartiality by eliminating prejudices related to age, gender, and physical capabilities. It stands as a testament to our relentless dedication to offer businesses and their employees a new paradigm of workspace inclusivity and accessibility.

A Journey of Mutual Growth

Your trust and support have been a cornerstone of our journey. These partnerships are invaluable as we are charting a course towards a future where work is more than just a job – it's an opportunity for continuous growth and fulfillment.

Our Pledge

As we step into this new era of work, we are committed to remain invested in innovation, to listen actively to market needs, and to constantly evolve. We believe in a future where businesses and employees grow together in a symbiotic relationship, and metaWorX is our first step in making this vision a reality.

Experience Performance.

Thomas Kirchenmajer
Founder & CEO

metaWorX®

A new era of work has begun.